5 THE ULTIMATE PARTY VILLA MOUNT HARTMAN BAY ESTATE, GRENADA

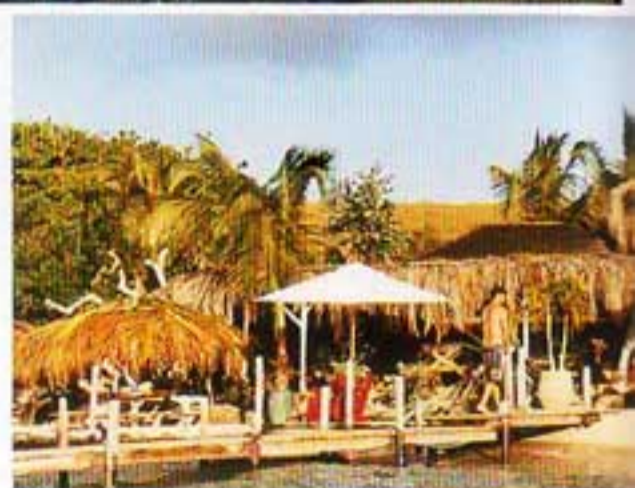

This lively and charming island offers a little of everything; a lush jungle interior studded with waterfalls and lakes, characterful towns and fishing settlements, plus great food, a buoyant culture and a varied range of accommodation. The most expensive – and exclusive – villa on the island is the Mount Hartman Bay Estate, a Gaudi-esque fantasy of a villa with bathrooms hewn out of the rock, a generous pool cooled by a chilled-water spray and ample accommodation for 16 in its Estate House and eight in its Beach House. It comes complete with motor launches and the world's fastest powerboat, and staff members include a brilliant island chef who trained with the UK's very own Gary Rhodes.

The price of taking the entire estate starts from £3,645 a person based on a minimum of 17 adults sharing for seven nights, including all services and food, return flights and transfers. Contact Elegant Resorts Villas Reservations (01244 897999; www.elegantresorts.co.uk).

6 THE DIVE SPOT

PETER ISLAND RESORT, BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS

Divers are always raving about the Virgin Islands, and the protected waters of Peter Island are ideal for both snorkelling and scuba diving. The classic underwater landscape has spur and groove reefs falling away to a sandy floor, and you'll be able to see everything from horse-eye jacks and garden eels to rainbow runners and octopi in forests of soft coral. There are also many romantic wrecks beloved of divers, the most famous being the RMS Rhone, struck down by an 1867 hurricane. Peter Island Resort is noted for its excellent diving facilities. The island is wild and untamed, with little vegetation, but thanks to a veritable army of gardeners and a monster of an irrigation system, Peter Island Resort is surrounded by all kinds of exotic palms, frangipani and bougainvillea. Hang up your hammock on a private lawn outside one of the beach suites.

Stay seven nights for the price of six, from £1,815 a person based on two adults sharing a Double Ocean View Room on a full-board basis. Price includes return World Traveller flights with British Airways from London Gatwick and return boat and private car transfers. This offer is valid until 31 October 2007. Contact Elegant Resorts Caribbean & North America Reservations on 01244 897516, or visit www.elegantresorts.co.uk.

7 THE LUXURY HOUSE HIBISCUS, MUSTIQUE

Hibiscus has long been considered one of the island's premier villas, and the design reflects the Palladian influences of other great houses in the Caribbean, such as Oliver Messel's Heron Bay in Barbados. Perched gracefully on the hillside above the wide and glorious sweep of Macaroni Beach, Hibiscus has acres of space between its five (soon to be six) spacious bedroom suites. Yet unlike some of the grander homes on Mustique, it retains a genuinely friendly, family feel, which makes it popular with large house parties and young royals.

From £9,488 a week for up to 10 guests. Book through Mustique Villa Rentals (01628 583517; www.mustique-island.com).
